ABOUT...

- Mary Jo, an Ohio native, moved from the small town of Willoughby to Cleveland at 10-years-old. Her family is very musically-inclined – her grandfather was a conductor, her grandmother and mother were both in choir and her dad had the best singing voice she ever heard, so it was only natural she follow in their footsteps. She was the shy member of the family as a child, and would only sing if no one was around. Mary Jo actually wanted to be a real estate agent ever since she could remember, but she slowly realized she was too good at singing to not pursue performing as a career first.
- She started posting on TikTok during the pandemic as a way to showcase her abilities and as a way to combat her stage fright, since she felt comfortable posting on her own time. Her first couple videos went viral and her confidence shot through the roof – and she has been hard at work ever since. She favors pop music and has covered all of her favorite artists. She was even able to a comment from Tate McRae after she covered one of her songs. Mary Jo's signature style is a vocal rasp that she features on most of her songs.
- Mary Jo is now at 823K TikTok followers and is fully committed to making content online for her fanbase. In between recording, she has been able to sing with some incredible artists, most notably Jewel, which she said was a remarkable experience. She also says that Bebe Rexha, Jessie Reyes, The Lumineers and Taylor Holder have all reached out to her about working together.
- Mary Jo is known for her boisterous personality and her ambitious spirit. It has led her to follow in the footsteps of her family, as well as allowed her to blaze her own trail with a massive online following. She's now ready to take the next step and show the world what she's capable of – and that her brand of "organized chaos" is exactly what pop music needs right now.
