ABOUT...

- Brian is a Motor City native who was mostly raised in Charlotte, NC (which is where he says is his hometown). He comes from a small family with his parents, as well as a younger brother and sister. Growing up in a Christian household, it was always tough for him, especially because Brian knew from an early age he was gay. Because of this, he had to hide his real self for most of his childhood. At 16-years-old, he finally mustered the courage to come out to his parents. At first, they had a difficult time accepting it, but eventually they came around (and their relationship with Brian is strong now).
- Both of Brian's parents are singers, so music has always been in his blood. His parents pushed him to try performing in front of people, so he joined the choir at an early age. He continued singing through high school and college, but it wasn't until he moved to New York City in his 20s that he finally realized he could pursue it as a career. Nowadays, Brian works as a wedding singer to pay the bills – and he loves it, as it lets him support himself with music. However, his dream is to be able to perform his own music in front of audiences, instead of cover songs.
- Brian has been posting on TikTok for close to a year and already has earned nearly 30K followers. He mostly enjoys posting videos of himself harmonizing with other singers, as well as showing off his original music. At the moment, his main goal is being able to build a small recording space in his apartment, but he needs to be able to afford a larger apartment first. Once he can find a bigger place, he is planning on buying equipment to produce and record music on his own. Brian's main goal with his music is to become a major star, if for no other reason than to show people that they can pursue their dreams and still live a life true to themselves.
