ABOUT...

- Tori is a small-town Texas girl who grew up in the suburbs of Dallas. She attended a small private school before eventually going to a fine arts academy for high school. She comes from an athletic family – her mom played tennis and her older brother was a star athlete as well. Tori’s father wasn’t around much during her childhood, so she grew very close to her mom. At just 2-years-old, Tori began singing and dancing, immediately finding passions in both. She began taking piano and vocal lessons and was writing her own original music by the time she hit 13-years-old. Within a couple years, she moved with her family to Los Angeles, where she has been for the last 4 years pursuing her music dreams.
- Tori is doing everything in her power to one day support herself and her family solely with her music. She has been working at an ad agency during the day and takes college classes at night, all while trying to find the time to record new music. Tori describes her sound as edgy pop and rock. She writes her music from a feminist perspective and is all about “girl power.”
- She has released 7 original songs through streaming platforms and plans on coming out with more material in the near future. She has been a competitive dancer since she could walk and has trained at Millennium Dance Complex, The Playground and The Edge (studios located in LA). The largest crowd Tori has performed for was 10K people.
- On TikTok, Tori currently has an impressive 127K followers, whom she has earned from posting dance videos and singing videos. Her ultimate dream is to become a massive pop star and to sell out arenas across the globe. Her biggest motivation and support is her mom, who sacrificed so much over the years to ensure Tori and her brother were taken care of.
